maintenance.

/ A partner you can trust.

We hold comprehensive base maintenance approvals at both our Bournemouth and Glasgow facilities.

We've found over the years that trust is built by doing the simple things well. Clear statements of work, clear quotes, transparent communications, honest conversations through the project and always delivering on the agreed timeline. These are the things that matter most.

With our base maintenance network, built on growing demand from our clients, we take the guess work out of your major maintenance inputs.

/ Coverage to rely on.

Doctors talk about prevention being better than cure. It's no different with aircraft.

Well maintained aircraft, whilst not immune to AOG situations, perform better.

Our line maintenance coverage allows us to deliver comprehensive maintenance solutions, when and where you need it.

/ On demand, mobile maintenance.

As an operator ourselves we know well the challenges of unscheduled situations. Demanding timelines and quick turnarounds require swift intervention.

We've built the network, capabilities and teams that will react to your requirements.

Working with high frequency, mission critical organisations ranging from civil fleets to military platforms, we know how to deliver these unscheduled events.

/ Pre-purchase inspections (PPI).

/ Worth taking a closer look.

We have a wealth of experience in performing aircraft pre-purchase inspections on behalf of various Lessors, Banks, Operators and Owners, helping identify high quality business jets and airliners from the wide inventory on offer.

The comprehensive technical reports that result from these inspections and reviews assist with an understanding of the;

- Condition
- Maintenance status
- Airworthiness
- Value of the aircraft

/ Paint and interiors.

At Bournemouth, we can provide you a full 'turnkey' solution for your paint and interiors needs.

Our approved Part 21J & G organisations are able to deliver bespoke solutions along with the appropriate regulatory approvals.

Inconjunction with our established specialist partners, we can provide complete service delivery, on-site, without the need to re-position your aircraft.

All this from one proven supplier. So why not challenge our teams to come up with something refreshingly different for your aircraft?

/ Supporting your fleet.

As a fleet operator you need the confidence that your maintenance partner will do everything in its power to maintain your aircraft availability. This requires agility and a precise focus on your mission.

Time critical operators recognise this, with our mobile teams and bases we are ready to assist any time of night or day. We even pre-position our team's at large events, just in case they're called upon.

/ Private owners, you are not alone.

Whether you are self-managing your aircraft or are using a small operator, you'll often need the coverage of a wider support network.

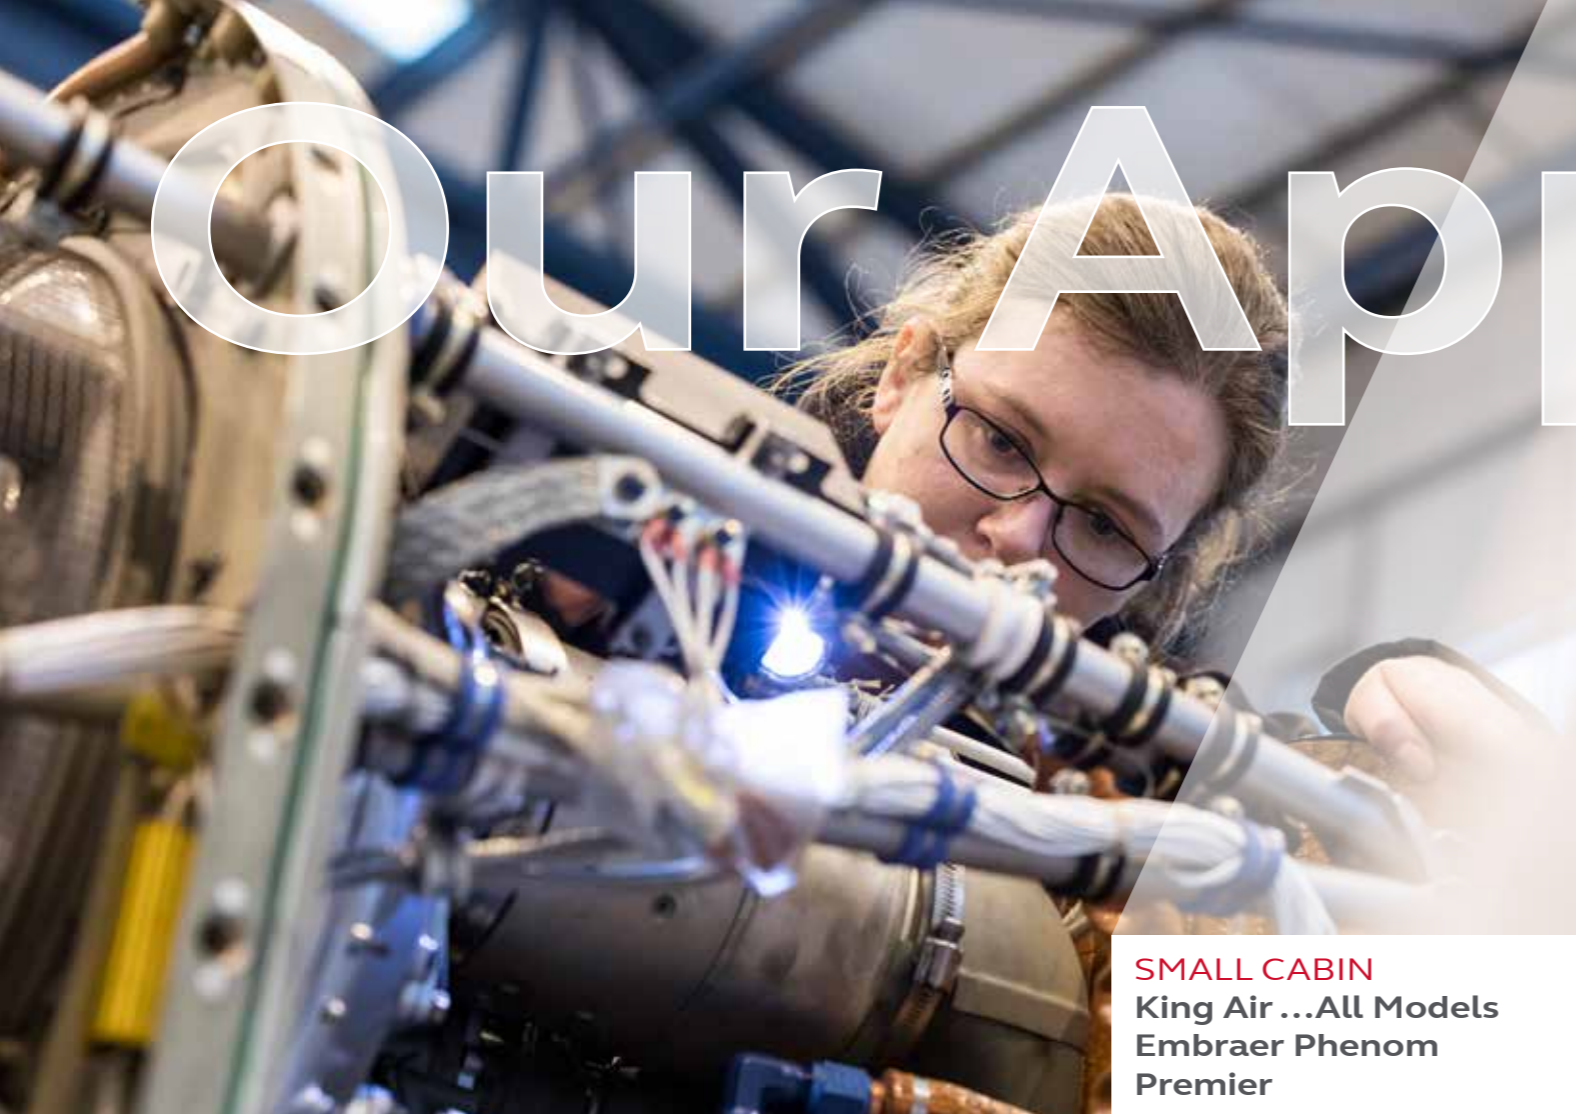

With our ability to be called on demand, you have a maintenance support organisation out of the box that is dedicated to your aircraft, no matter where you need to go.

Additionally, we have a whole host of services that can be deployed to maintain your aircraft. For example, supplementary charter during an aircraft check or even as a support flight for AOG situations.
